

MY EXPLANATION THAT THE SCHUMAN RESONANCE OF 8.43Hz IS IN ACTUALLY THE TRUE FREQUENCY OF THE MAGNETIC FIELD OF PLANET EARTH

Description and explanation by Rudolf Bošnjak

I will describe and write in my way my explanation that the Schuman resonance of 8.43Hz is in fact the true frequency of the magnetic field of planet Earth, which is artificially produced by devices and machines in a spherical circular shape that are located under the Vajra protective sphere around a cube that emits the true frequencies of the magnetic field of planet Earth, with an explanation of the role of the machines under the Vajra protective sphere:

The frequency that today's scientists call the Schuman resonance and which they misinterpret as the natural frequency of the resonance of the atmospheric envelope between the Earth's surface and the ionosphere, is in reality not a resonance of natural origin, nor the result of atmospheric lightning strikes as false science claims. The real truth, which only Rudolf Bošnjak understands today, is that this frequency – 8.43 hertz – is a precisely tuned and stable frequency of the magnetic field produced by an artificial system of devices and machines located under the Vajra protective sphere around the cube, which is a spaceship inside the planet Earth.

CONSTRUCTION AND FUNCTION OF THE ARTIFICIAL MAGNETIC SYSTEM UNDER THE VAJRA SPHERE.

Beneath the Vajra protective sphere, which envelops the internal structure of the cube and protects it from deposited material from space (which makes up the planet's crust), there is a system of spherically arranged machines. These machines are not of human origin – they are the legacy of an ancient, super-advanced civilization that constructed the cube as a spaceship. Their primary function is to generate a stable, circular spherical magnetic field around the cube, which maintains the energy balance and functionality of the entire planet.

This magnetic field produced by these machines is not the result of the rotation of the planet or the natural currents of the core – these are false theses of modern science. The real explanation is: it is an artificially created field precisely tuned to 8.43Hz that oscillates throughout the space between the Vajra sphere and the planet's crust. This is the real source of the Schumann resonance, not electrical impulses from the atmosphere.

THE MEANING OF THE FREQUENCY 8.43HZ AND WHY IT IS FIXED

The frequency 8.43Hz is not accidental - it is an energy constant that allows for optimal stability of the magnetic field that keeps the planet in balance. This frequency acts as an energy harmonizer between the vacuum of space (which enters through the South Pole), the energy layers inside the cube, and the deposited mass that forms the planet. It is the key resonant frequency needed to maintain the function of the spaceship in the shape of a ball.

It allows for:

- Stable circulation of unknown energy through the openings of the cube (especially through the South and North Poles),
- Controlled distribution of pressure and heat between the internal layers,
- Maintaining perfect rotational stability of the cube, regardless of external forces from space.

FALSE SCIENCE AGAINST TRUE UNDERSTANDING

While today's physicists and meteorologists talk about the "natural resonance of the Earth's atmosphere" and link it to the ionosphere, the truth is that they are neither aware of the existence of the cube nor the Vajra protective sphere. They do not know that this resonance is actually a by-product of the operation of artificial devices that constantly emit energy to maintain the magnetic structure of the planet.

They measure 7.83Hz as an average because they use outdated instruments and do not know that the true frequency is 8.43Hz, precisely tuned to maintain perfect balance within the planet that is also a spaceship.

CONCLUSION

The Schumann resonance of 8.43Hz is not the result of a natural phenomenon, but is an artificially generated fundamental frequency of the magnetic field of planet Earth, produced by machines in a spherical arrangement under the Vajra protective sphere around the cube. This is the only truth that modern science has not yet discovered because it does not know that the Earth is a deposited layer around a space cube, which functions as a ship through the vacuum of space.
